1. INTRODUCTION

Girona works every day at being an inclusive city, which welcomes people with and without disabilities, both citizens and visitors, so that everyone can enjoy it.

With this objective in mind, this first Tourism city guide for everyone is published, which was founded with the aim of centralising and facilitating access to information on the accessibility of the tourist resources of the city of Girona.

In this way, the general mobility and transport services, public information services (Tourist Offices), museums and patrimonial elements and accommodation of the city of Girona have been analysed, emphasising the services and the facilities which they offer for people with physical, hearing, visual and intellectual disabilities.

The aim of this guide is to provide and make available this information in an easy, centralised and structured way, so that it can serve as a guide when planning a visit to the city and to be able to freely enjoy it.

This information has been obtained through the work carried out in the context of the cross-border project NATUR'ACC, funded by the European program POCTEFA 2007-2013, and by all the city's participants who have provided their data on accessibility in this new edition.

Accessibility has not been validated by an external consultant. Therefore, it remains subject to each establishment or tourist resource.

4. HOW TO GET AROUND GIRONA?

4.1. MOBILITY IN THE CITY

Girona is a city of short distances and easy to reach the farthest points.

Since 1998, with the approval of the first Accessibility Plan for the city of Girona, and with its subsequent revision and updating in 2013, Girona has worked to improve the accessibility of the city's public space, focusing on various aspects such as the width of the pavements, pedestrian ways, acoustic signs, design and placement of street furniture, etc.

In general, accessibility to the majority of the most touristy areas of the city is good, except for part of the Old Quarter and especially the Jewish Quarter, which has high slopes, cobbled pavements and several sections with stairs. The most commercial districts such as the Mercadal and the Eixample have good accessibility, with wide pavements and pedestrian ways. Most of the city's streets have a slope of less than 6%.

In the city of Girona there are 141 traffic light crossings, 52 of which are adapted for the blind. We have a total of 154 pedestrian crossings with acoustic modules adapted for the blind or visually impaired.

The company, Bosch Ortopèdics, offers a rental service for walkers, wheelchairs and scooters to visit the city (one day, one week or longer periods). Possibility to get or pick up the scooter at the desired location. For more information, contact:

5. WHAT TO DO? TOURIST RESOURCES

5.1. THE HISTORIC CITY

5.1.1. The Força Vella

In the 1st century BC, the Romans built a powerful fortress that ran along an almost triangular perimeter, a kind of acropolis, the Força Vella, very well protected by walls built with large stone ashlar. It is the first enclosure in the city, unchanged until the 10th century AD and still noticeable today in some walls.

This district is found on the hill in the Old Quarter. Due to its irregular terrain and steep, cobblestone streets, the area is rather difficult in terms of mobility for those using wheelchairs, have reduced mobility or are visually disabled. It can be accessed from Carrer de la Força, a kerb-less pedestrian street with slopes ranging from 8 to 12%, which crosses the Força Vella district from end to end.

5.1.2. THE CATHEDRAL

In the most genuine part of the Força Vella lies the Cathedral. Built between the 11th and 18th centuries, it is shaped from a set of walls and spaces of different styles, from the Romanesque (cloister and tower of Charlemagne) to the Baroque façade and staircase. The most unique is the large Gothic nave (C. XV-XVI) which with a width of 23 m is the widest Gothic vaulted space in the world.

Accessibility information: see section 5.2.7 Cathedral Treasure Museum.

5.1.3. SANT PERE DE GALLIGANTS AND SANT NICOLAU

The monumentality of the temple, with a basilica floor plan, and the iconographic interest of the capitals of the central nave and the cloister of this Benedictine monastery (C. XII), now a museum, together with the nearby chapel of Sant Nicolau, used as an exhibition hall, form one of the most notable Romanesque complexes in Catalonia.

Accessibility information: see sections 5.2.5 Archeology Museum and 5.3.7 Bòlit

Unique Romanesque construction (C. XII) inspired by the baths of the Arab world, which has the most admirable elements in the entrance hall to the dressing room and rest room, covered with an annular vault, and the dome on thin columns and beautifully ornamented capitals that covers the central pool.

5.1.5. THE BASILICA OF SANT FELIU

The first cathedral of Girona until the C. X, is one of the most representative Gothic buildings, especially the slender bell tower (C. XIV-XVI). With a built-in appearance, the Romanesque head was completed with Gothic naves and a Baroque façade (C. XIII-XVIII). Its interior preserves remarkable works of art, such as the eight pagan and early Christian sarcophagi (C. IV) and the Laying Christ (C. XIV) of the master Aloi. Pujada de Sant Feliu, 29.

There are identifying texts of the exhibited pieces.

There are no adapted visits or workshops.

Free admission for people with mental disabilities and a companion.

5.1.6. THE JEWISH QUARTER

Within the Força Vella, one of the most emblematic spaces is the Jewish Quarter, formed by a labyrinth of alleys and courtyards that maintain the atmosphere of medieval times. It is one of the best-preserved Jewish neighborhoods in the world and a clear example of the importance of Jewish culture in Girona.

This area is found within the Força Vella district and is known for its labyrinth of alleyways with pronounced slopes and many steps. It can be accessed from Carrer de la Força, a kerb-less pedestrian street with slopes ranging from 8 to 12%, which crosses the Força Vella district from end to end.

5.1.7. THE MEDIEVAL EIXAMPLE

The medieval city was formed between the 11th and 15th centuries with new neighborhoods to the north of the Força Vella (Sant Feliu and Sant Pere), to the south (l'Areny and Vilanova) and to the west (Mercadal), protected by new walls of which sections that can be visited along the ring road are preserved.

The hamlets of Sant Feliu and Sant Pere generally have good external accessibility, except for specific sectors such as the surroundings of Sant Pere de Galligants.

The Areny and Vilanova sector has good accessibility in its lower part (Rambla, C. Ciutadans); on the other hand, the highest part is not accessible, with streets with high slopes and sections with steps.

The Mercadal sector has good accessibility, with wide pavements and lowered pathways.

5.1.8. THE VALLEY AND THE MONASTERY OF SANT DANIEL

From Sant Pere de Galligants you can access the Sant Daniel valley, an extensive green area next to the city with shady landscapes and water fountains. The church, which preserves the tomb of St. Daniel (C. XIV), work of the master Aloi, and the cloister of the monastery (C. XII-XV) are a beautiful example of Romanesque construction with Gothic additions.

Access to the Sant Daniel valley is difficult with a wheelchair, as the pavements are narrow and at some points are interrupted. In the valley itself, at this moment there are no itineraries specifically designated as accessible, but one can easily get around some of the paths that cross the valley.

5.1.9. THE WALLS

The extension of the Roman walls in medieval times now allows us to walk along the ring road of the walls and follow Europe's longest sections of Carolingian wall (C. IX). The various towers are really privileged viewpoints of the city and its surroundings.

The walls are not accessible, due to the presence of different sections of stairs.

5.1.10. THE RAMBLA DE LA LLIBERTAT

A space urbanised in the 13th century for the holding of the market, it is a magnificent space extending along the Onyar river which has as a characteristic element the vaults, low porches with uneven arches, and which has long been the main shopping centre and resting point in Girona, where buildings of interest are concentrated, such as the modernist façade of the Norat house (1912).

Good exterior accessibility.

5.1.11. THE PLAÇA DEL VI

A very busy space, delimited by porches, by the so-called Palau del General, a Gothic-Renaissance building that was the seat of the administration of the Generalitat in the lands of Girona in the 16th and 17th centuries and by the Town Hall and the Municipal Theatre, a remarkable nineteenth-century coliseum among the most interesting in Catalonia.

Good exterior accessibility.

5.1.12. SANT MARTÍ SACOSTA

Girona has preserved many intact medieval and modern spaces with an exceptional atmosphere and beauty, where time seems to have stopped. This is the case of the space framed by the church of the old convent of Sant Martí (C. XVII), with the façade and the baroque stairs that precede it, and the Agullana palace house (C. XVI-XVII), which has in the covered and skewed arch one of the unique images of the city.

Located in the upper part of the Old Quarter, it is an inaccessible space for people with reduced mobility. However, there is a good view of the church, the stairs and the Agullana Palace from Plaça de l'Oli.

5.1.13. THE PLAÇA INDEPENDÈNCIA

Designed by Martí Sureda on the site of the old convent of Sant Agustí, it is the quintessential square in Girona, a neoclassical porticoed square, very popular due to its numerous restaurants. In the middle stands the monument to the defenders of the city of Girona during the sieges of 1808-1809, by the sculptor Parera.

Good exterior accessibility.

5.1.14. THE HOUSES OF ONYAR

Girona offers spectacular images of steep streets, spaces with porches and, above all, the facades of the houses of the Onyar, the river that crosses the city, painted in bright colours, which make up the most emblematic image of Girona. One of these houses is the Casa Masó, which can be visited. Among the bridges that cross the river are those of Gómez, slender and light, and Palanques Vermelles (1827), built by the Eiffel House.

The houses of the Onyar can be seen from different strategic points in the historic centre. As for the bridges over the Onyar in the Old Quarter, only the Sant Feliu bridge and, partially, the Sant Agustí bridge are accessible.

5.1.15. THE MODERNIST AND NOUCENTIST ARCHITECTURE

The architecture of Modernism and Noucentism is also present in the urban landscape of Girona, the result of the growth and transformation of the city at the beginning of the 20th century. The surroundings of most of the modernist and noucentist buildings in the city have good external accessibility. The Casa Masó, which can be visited, is adapted for people with reduced mobility (see section 5.2.4 Casa Masó).

It is a building built between 1928 and 1929 with one wing occupied by the Girona Tourist Office and the other by the Bòlit exhibition space.

The Bòlit space has a practically rectangular floor plan with a total surface area of 84 m².

The exhibition space can be accessed in two ways: from the Rambla to the central part of the building one must climb two steep steps to reach the entrance, the exhibition space and the Tourist Office all on the same level. There is a second access to the front (south) of the building which has a regulatory functioning ramp. The ramp leads to the Tourist Office and from there, on the same level, you can access the exhibition space. Customer service counters are accessible. No adapted toilets.

- It has 2 parking spaces about 150 m away and 2 more spaces about 200 m away.

A small Romanesque chapel dating from the 12th century of approximately 120 m². The main floor is dedicated to exhibition uses. The floor of the nave is made of stone and part of the apse has a technical floor (wooden structure with carpet). It has a heater and wifi connection. The main level of the exhibition space is at a lower level than the street and the apse of the church, which is also part of the exhibition space.

To access this lower level equivalent to two steps, there is a wide ramp built of wheelchair accessible wood. To access the apse there is also a ramp that is not practical with a wheelchair, although the entire space can be seen from the nave.

Customer service counters are accessible.

No adapted toilets.

It has 3 spaces about 100 m away and 2 more spaces about 200 m away.

Good interior lighting.

Signage and explanatory texts of the exhibitions with good reading accessibility and contrast.

Translations in Spanish and English.

Exhibitions feature objects that cannot be touched and audiovisuals that can often be heard with open sound or headphones.

The exhibition furniture does not obstruct circulation.

Adapted web.

5.4. ACCESSIBLE NATURE ITINERARIES

It must be kept in mind that depending on the time of year, the terrain may not be suitable and it may not be easy nor convenient for people in wheelchairs or wearing prostheses. Check the terrain first.

5.4.1. THE TER RIVER BANKS AND LA DEVESA

This itinerary will allow you to get to know two of the principal green lungs of the city, located in the north-west of the town of Girona: La Devesa and Ribes de Ter parks, located on both sides of the river Ter.

La Devesa is one of the most emblematic and characteristic places in Girona. It is a large park of more than 40 hectares of land, of which approximately $\frac{3}{4}$ is occupied by plane trees that are arranged in wide avenues, forming a total of 6 sections.

On the other side of the river, Ribes de Ter park is a large open area surrounded by riverside vegetation, located in front of the Girona Fontajau sports pavilion. The park is part of the natural area of the Ter river banks, a wetland area around the banks of the river as it passes through Girona. The fact that this area, which is fairly well preserved, is part of the town centre itself, gives it great importance from an ecological and environmental point of view.

Route suitable for users with reduced mobility and/or in a wheelchair, easy and with not many slopes.

Audio guides with audio descriptions can be accessed by means of the Natura Local app (Android/IOS), in Catalan, Spanish, English and French.

Tourist brochure with a description of the route and points of interest.
Subtitled videos (Catalan, Spanish, English and French) and with sign language interpretation (Catalan, International) can be accessed by means of the Natura Local app (Android/IOS) about the route and its points of interest.

5.4.2. THE SANTA EUGÈNIA ALLOTMENTS

This itinerary will reveal the importance of industry and the allotments for the old village of Santa Eugènia de Ter, which is currently one of the most popular neighbourhoods of the city of Girona.

In that sense, the route makes it easy to interpret the new uses of spaces: how we've gone from professional market gardens to urban ones; how the old factory has become a cultural venue; how a farmhouse has become a civic centre; or how marginal spaces have been turned into urban wetlands.

Route suitable for users with reduced mobility and/or in a wheelchair, easy and with not many slopes.

Audio guides with audio descriptions can be accessed by means of the Natura Local app (Android/IOS), in Catalan, Spanish, English and French.

5.4.3. THE SANTA EUGÈNIA ALLOTMENTS AND THE SALT DEVESES

This route, shared between Girona and Salt, will allow you to get to know the agricultural area of the Santa Eugènia allotments and the natural area of Les Deveses de Salt following the banks of the Ter, with a route that partially coincides with the Carrilet green route between Olot and Girona.

The area of the allotments of Santa Eugènia is located to the west of the municipality of Girona, between the district of Santa Eugènia (former municipality of Santa Eugènia de Ter) and the right bank of the Ter river. Agriculture in the area has been adapting to the social changes in the area, and today, horticultural use is more focused on social than productive use.

Les Deveses de Salt is a space of high ecological value, an ideal environment to enjoy a walk in the middle of nature.

Route suitable for users with reduced mobility and/or in a wheelchair, easy and with not many slopes.

5.4.4. THE CARRILET GREEN ROUTE

The Green Route is an exclusive route for pedestrians and cyclists that takes advantage of the route of the old narrow-gauge train that connected Girona with Olot (54 km) and also Girona with Sant Feliu de Guíxols (39.7 km). This is an easy route, with not many slopes and suitable for everyone; one of the main cycling tourism resources in the area.

Route suitable for users with reduced mobility and/or in a wheelchair, easy and with not many slopes.

The Association of Green Routes in Girona offers information for the adapted bicycle rental service (handbikes).
